| Shirding Park Taiwan Ebony Forest Exploration | Shirding | 3 hours |
| Commonly known as Taiwan's ebony forest (140-hectares), this area has been protected since the days of the Japanese because of its solid material and high value. It has only become possible to visit here in recent years. The foliage is dense, lush and magnificent. A breathtaking journey, you will also see endless views of the Pacific Ocean from the edge of the cliff next to the forest, as well as Jiale Water Coastline and Longan Park. | | |
| Daytime adventures at Shirding | Shirding | 2.5 hours |
| Covering over 180 hectares, Shirding Natural Park rests on an uplifted coral reef and is a spectacular natural classroom, boasting nearly 300 species of flora, 50-plus species of butterflies, and more fauna and bugs than you could count. | | |
| Nighttime adventures at Shirding | Shirding | 2.5 hours |
| It is a vibrant world with nocturnal creatures rising from slumber, such as the protected Chinese bullfrogs and Ornate rice frogs courting with their croaks. It is a symphony of nature and even the less-talented, homely Spectacled toads join the performance! | | |
| Rice Planting in the Organic Paddies [January Only] | Long-Shui | 2 hours |
| Out of concern for the environment, the farmers of Long-Shui Community have returned to the old ways of farming, cultivating a 16-hectare organic rice farm that produces clean, natural “Long-Shui Organic Langjiao Rice.” Step into the shoes of a famer and work alongside the locals in the paddies and experience the fun of planting organic rice yourself! | | |

| | | |
|--|----------------------------------|--------------------|
| Harvesting Rice in the Organic Paddies [May Only] | Long-Shui | 2 hours |
| After soaking up the moisture and nutrients of the soils of Long-Shui Community, the organic rice planted there is ready for harvest. Long-Shui's environment makes it a rich source of food, which in turn attracts ducks, geese and egrets, making it a must-visit for bird-lovers! | | |
| Red Turtle-shaped Rice Cake Making and Clam Picking | Long-Shui | 2 hours |
| Community farmers actively promote organic planting of rice by using less polluting and pesticide-free farming techniques to produce the famous "Langjiao Rice."
